Study Program

Acting for sustainable development in societies

Theories, perspectives and creative methods

KSH München

Campus Benediktbeuern

About the program:

We offer you the opportunity to study with us in English in summer term 2022– from March 10th, 2022 till July 16th, 2022 equalling 30 ECTS.

Through a combination of theoretical lectures, learning labs and excursions you will gain practical and theoretical knowledge of social work and education practices fostering sustainable development. Theoretical aspects are intertwined with the practical experience of outdoor education, methods of group work, creative arts and media. You will visit several social institutions and get to know their way of working. And you will get the chance to experience the beautiful alps within a multiday excursion!

Together with fellow students from Germany and all over Europe, who have a shared interest in sustainable development in social work and education, you will participate in workshops and learning labs, that will give you the opportunity to experience alternative ways of learning. And together you will develop own creative ideas and projects relevant to practice. You will meet lecturers with various professional backgrounds, such as Social Work, Pedagogy, Psychology, Social Policy, Arts, Music and Outdoor Education.

The Place to Be:

The KSH campus is located within a landmarked monastery run by the Salesian order. There are around 550 students within an inspiring surrounding nearby the mountains. There is active student life with students well connected to each other profiting from a personal contact to the professors as well as staff members – best condition for becoming local.

The municipality Benediktbeuern is the place you will be living in for four months right next to the Bavarian Alps – a region that provides best opportunities for sports and cultural activities. The town of Benediktbeuern is 45 km South of Munich, the capital of Bavaria. An easy train ride from one hour to experience a vibrant city with an international atmosphere and various cultural events. Exchange students will also profit from all services offered at the KSH campus in Munich.

Course Description

Module 1: Social Work as agent to foster sustainability in societies. This module gives an introduction into the subject of sustainable development and the meaning of social work for it. The students will get an overview of welfare systems, different fields of social work practice, relevant theories and approaches.	10 ECTS
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Introduction to sustainable development and Social Work in Germany (S. Walser / T. Strobl) Tuesday, 2-5pm • Introduction to Political Economy and the Foundation of the Social Service Professions (N. Noyoo) Tuesday, 11.45 – 13.15 • Social Welfare and Family Policy - A Swedish and German perspective (J. Christensen) June 9-11
Module 2: Methods for Working with Groups and Communities Promoting sustainability in Social Work also requires approaches and methods that focus on systems and structures. Social work has developed a rich repertoire for this purpose. In this module, students engage with different (creative) approaches and methods that help to promote the common good as well as the social well-being of individuals.	10 ECTS
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Community Organizing (P. Cromwell) May, 5-7 • Community Music (A. de Banffy-Hall) Thursday, 8.15-9.45 • Working close to the Edge (P. Hilgers / T. Patel) March, 23-26 • Systemic Thinking and Approach (A. Vossler) May, 26-28
Module 3: Nature, Creative Arts and Media This module is on the one hand a Learning Lab as a place and method of research-based learning, where students develop projects relevant to practice. Both teaching and practice partners benefit from "learning in dialogue" between students, teachers, those affected, subject experts and representatives of institutions. On the other hand, students have the opportunity to develop approaches to social work through their own creative activity and movement in nature.	10 ECTS
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Creative Workshop (K. Drescher) Thursday, 19-22 • Media Workshop (A. Eberle) Thursday, 16-19 • Nature and Culture in the Bavarian and Tirolian Alps (K. Drescher) June, 16-18
